Management Training Programme

Over forty of the Royal Victoria Teaching Hospital's (RVTH) top managers have taken part in a Management Training Programme, the first of its kind to be held at RVTH itself.

The Training Programme was run by Jollof Tutors, one of the leading training companies in The Gambia and covered topics such as Motivation, Communication, Performance Management, Authority, Responsibility and Delegation and Effective Resource Management.

Participants in the training included Departmental Matrons from all of RVTH's departments, and their Deputies, together with Doctors, and other key staff from within RVTH. RVTH's central Management Team also attended the course.

RVTH believes that such training is essential to ensure that it can organise and manage the resources and staff available to it as efficiently as possible to deliver the highest quality of patient care in accordance with its vision of making RVTH an excellent Teaching Hospital providing a wide range of quality healthcare to all Gambians.

The training course was hailed a success, with one participant saying "This is the best thing that has happened to me in all my time working at RVTH. RVTH is already seeing the fruits of the course in improved time management and resource allocation by managers.

Mr Baboucarr Ngum, the RVTH Public Relations Officer, Training Manager and a course participant, said "I think it is a great step forward for RVTH to have a training course such as this run within the Hospital. Our own staff have worked well together with Jollof Tutors to deliver high quality training."
